

USJFCOM fact sheet

U.S. Joint Forces Command and Allied Command-Transformation Economic Impact

With a combined total of more than 4,900 employees, Allied Command Transformation (ACT) and U.S. Joint Forces Command's (USJFCOM) annual economic impact includes:

- USJFCOM Military/Civilian Salary: More than $188 million
- ACT Salary: More than $48 million
- USJFCOM Contracts: More than $476 million
- USJFCOM Operating Budget: More than $621 million
- NATO Operating Budget: More than $ 153 million

Building construction and leasing:

- Over 1 million square feet in Norfolk and Suffolk.
- USJFCOM leases more than 642,000 square feet in Suffolk at a cost of $16 million.
- ACT is currently undergoing renovations and an expansion project which will increase ACT's footprint by 83,000 square feet at a cost of more than $30 million.

As technological advancements continue to revolutionize the world, USJFCOM continues to increase its partnerships with a wide variety of state organizations and military and civilian academic-based institutions.

Partners include: Old Dominion University, Johns Hopkins University and MIT's Lincoln Laboratories, George Washington University, Purdue University, University of Southern California, the Virginia Modeling, Analysis and Simulation Center, George Mason University, and the University of Central Florida, among others.

more info

USJFCOM Public Affairs

757.836.6555

<http://www.jfcom.mil>